

The sighting happened in 2016 in central Queensland around 1am travelling in my ute to a Minesite 30km from the township of (township removed by TAGOA) at the time I was not familiar with the animal and it freaked me out a bit and confused me it was galloping (a weird trot) in front of my car for like 100m on the road before it turned off in to the bush I didn't tell to many people as I thought they wouldn't believe me I started googling animal characteristics for hours to see what it could be and then thought it might of been a huge fox with mage and problems. Or possibly a weird looking dingo but it looked nothing like a regular dingo, Then few years later after coming across the Tasmanian tiger on YouTube and a podcast I'm convinced this is the animal I seen At the time of sighting I didn't know about their history or even think of them been on main land Australia.
